More particularly, this invention relates to the manufacture of a novel family of polymeric plastisol compositions useful for imparting impact resistance to latex paints and decorative coatings, in which compositions there is incorporated into the composition a water-soluble polymeric resin, such as a water-soluble urethane resin or a water-soluble acrylic resin. The ability of a polymer latex paint or other decorative coating to withstand impact can be considered as being related to its ability to maintain mechanical properties, such as tensile elongation and tensile strength. It has heretofore been found that the use of a plastisol composition to form a coating increases the impact resistance of any coating containing the plastisol. Plastisols are polymeric compositions that include a high level of latex and plasticizer. The plasticizer is present in an amount sufficient to render the composition to flowable, yet is present in an amount to be in the state of a solid when the composition is cured. The use of a vinyl toluene copolymer as the plasticizer for the composition was first described in U.S. Pat. No. 3,037,952. It is hereinbefore and heretofore a goal of those skilled in the art to incorporate plasticizers into a latex paint or decorative coating such that the plasticizers stabilize the composition, so that the composition can be mixed and applied to a substrate and maintained in a stable state until cured. In accordance with the present invention, there is provided a polymeric plast

The Review of Spiritual Formation: A Review of the Expository. The Meaning of the 'G' Key There is only one key for the whole keyboard. It's called G (for 'green' – the colour assigned to it by my computer keyboard). Every other key has two different colours, one for the top part and one for the bottom. The 'G' is only part of one of the colours, and that's the right-hand part. The other colour is on the left. Most of the keys also have one of four possible colours: Red, Yellow, Blue and Green. That's because of the way that they are pressed, and the importance of the colour. So when you look at the keyboard you see the keys in two colours, but their position and the meanings of the colours tell you what to do. Red is the left hand, and it means that you should press the button with your right hand – that's the one that you've been holding down the whole time. The yellow keys are the top half of all the keys. Yellow means 'don't do anything'. The blue keys are the bottom half of the keys. Blue means 'press on the key with your left hand'. And green means 'press on the key with your right hand'. So you can see why the keyboard has the colours it has, but it's not so easy to tell them apart in normal typing. If you're used to using a keypad you'll be able to tell all the colours apart, but when you start trying to use a keyboard with a mouse it's a bit harder. There are a 3e33713323
