A long and bloody conflict between the Reaches Expeditionary Fleet and the Earth Defense Force brings peace to an entire world at a great cost. On the surface, the conflict continues as the EDF continues its assault of the planet. But, we've left the surface of the planet long ago. The goal of the Reaches Expeditionary Fleet is simply to do whatever they must to survive. The EDF is only a sideshow. They have no intention of saving the world. Nothing more than a tool to do the bidding of their boss. But their need for revenge will never allow them to return to normal life. The planet they live on is called Trena, and it sits at the very center of the galaxy. The

Reaches Expeditionary Fleet's territory is bordered on one side by the Trenal System and on the other by the Ta-laar System. The EDF, on the other hand, has no fleet. Rather, it has scattered ships across the galaxy, looking for a way to destroy the Reaches Expeditionary Fleet, this cruel being who takes nothing from the galaxy but death and pain. Our characters are pilots who fight on the front lines of the battle. As the battle continues, we are tasked with destroying each other, our benefactor, and the EDF. As for the map: A prospective, randomized, single blind, placebo controlled trial of a slow release system for the delivery of gonadotropin releasing hormone to women with polycystic ovary syndrome. The aim of the study was to compare the efficacy of slow release gonadotropin releasing hormone (GnRH) versus subcutaneous placebo in the treatment of polycystic ovary syndrome (PCOS). A single blind, randomized, placebo controlled trial. A university teaching hospital. Twenty-five women with PCOS (mean age 29.8 years) randomly assigned to receive slow release GnRH (35 µg twice daily for 2 weeks) or placebo for four weeks in the follicular and luteal phases of the menstrual cycle. After 2 weeks of therapy, responders were given four more weeks of treatment and evaluated for final ovulation. The primary outcome of the study was cumulative ovulation rate (CR). Secondary outcomes included change in endocrine and ovarian ultrasound variables, menstruation and intercourse. Ovulation rates (CR) and endocrine and ovarian ultrasound parameters were similar in both groups. Follicular size
